Through the University of Puerto Rico, people can now learn how to use stock index futures in order to help protect their retirement portfolio. They have launched a new course through the Udemy network that focuses on futures trading, designed to ensure people can protect their indexed retirement portfolios. The course is available at <https://www.udemy.com/trading-controlled-leverage-financial-and-commodity-futures/>.

Dr. Scott Brown from the University of Puerto Rico says: "Index futures hedging is absolutely vital to investors with retirement accounts. By properly investing at 12%, it is possible for people to have a million by the time they reach 65, and we want to help them achieve this. The new course, which is available through Udemy, teaches people how to achieve this in a very easy way."

The industry apparently agrees with Dr. Scott's views on the importance of index futures hedging. As can be seen at <http://www.schwab.com/public/schwab/nn/articles/Using-Futures-to-Help-Protect-Your-Portfolio-2>, industry experts such as David Schwab feel that this type of investment is vital in building a diverse portfolio. Through index futures hedging, it is possible to protect the value of stock investments. Furthermore, Schwab has provided information to help people calculate the appropriate number of futures contracts for hedging, which the new Udemy course also offers in a more in-depth manner.

The new course offers evidence of investors in the Ed Seykota commodity fund who grew $15 million with an investment of just $5,000. The course will show people how to easily estimate the profits on their futures position. Additionally, it provides them with a toolkit on the best futures marketing hedging strategies. It also offers the Gyroscopic method, which helps investors to diversify their portfolio by trading accross seven factor markets that are completely unrelated.

"Believing that $5,000 can be turned into $15 million may seem incredible, but it is possible," adds Dr. Brown. "There are vast bodies of evidence out there on how to achieve this, and what this shows in particular is that people need to start with this as early as possible." The evidence Dr. Scott refers to can be accessed at <http://worryfreewealth.com/how-a-million-dollar-retirement-can-get-you-your-hearts-desire/>, which provides invaluable information on making good investments.
