Mt Airy, NC - October 13, 2026 -
Jay's Plumbing, Heating & AC Repair is drawing attention to the range of HVAC rebates and energy savings programs available to North Carolina homeowners, offering guidance on incentives that can help reduce the cost of heating and cooling upgrades.

The Mount Airy-based company has outlined details about the HVAC Rebates & Energy Savings Programs in North Carolina through resources available on its website, https://jayisontheway.com/rebate-incentives/. The information focuses on available rebates, manufacturer incentives, and energy-saving opportunities that may apply when homeowners replace or upgrade cooling and heating systems. As energy costs remain a concern for many households, awareness of these programs can play a role in household budgeting decisions.

Among the services connected to these programs are AC installation and replacement, HVAC installation and replacement, HVAC maintenance and tune-ups, furnace installation and replacement, heat pump installation, and thermostat repair and installation. The company notes that certain qualifying upgrades may be eligible for rebates or incentives, which can vary based on system type and program requirements.

Jay's Plumbing, Heating & AC Repair emphasizes the importance of helping homeowners understand available rebates and energy savings programs when upgrading older heating and cooling systems. By providing information about qualifying incentives, the company aims to help residents make informed decisions about their equipment and potential savings.

In addition to its service work, the company maintains community initiatives that reflect a commitment to Giving Back. These efforts include seasonal giveaways and programs designed to support residents across the region. Among its current initiatives is the Oldest System Giveaway, which features two categories: the oldest water heater and the oldest HVAC system. The giveaway provides an opportunity for participants to enter for a chance to receive an upgrade to an aging home system, subject to the contest's official rules and eligibility requirements. Through initiatives like these, the company aims to help homeowners address aging equipment while continuing its involvement in the local community.

The company operates on a 24/7 basis, allowing residents to reach a representative at any hour, including for emergency heating and cooling needs. This around-the-clock availability extends to the broader service offerings that include cooling, heating, indoor air quality, plumbing, and electrical work.

The rebate and energy savings information sits alongside other resources the company provides, including details on flexible financing and seasonal specials. Homeowners interested in learning more about available incentives, service options, or the current giveaway can visit the company's website. Additional information is available through the Contact Us section, while giveaway details can be found on the Oldest System Giveaway page.
