

Mitsubishi HVAC Company Launches New Website

May 27, 2016

May 27, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mitsubishi Now, a cooling and heating company in Houston, TX, are proud to have launched their brand new website. The site highlights the various services they offer, as well as the five geographical areas that they target. These areas are Broussard and Sulphur in Louisiana, and Groves, Katy and Clute in Texas. The new site can be accessed through MitsNow.com.

Paul "PJ" Disharoon from Mitsubishi Now says: "We're so happy with our new website. We wanted something that reflects the various services that we offer in an easy to read manner, and that is exactly what our design team came up with. Some of our loyal customers have already contacted us to say how much they like the site, so we believe it to be a complete success."

One of the new elements of the website is that it enables people to locate a contractor. Because Mitsubishi Now operates across a large geographical area, spanning two states, they have contractors in a range of different locations. Those who require their services can simply indicate their personal location on the website, and the system will then find the nearest contractor. This also helps to reduce waiting time.

The company is best known for its innovative technology that enables people to make significant savings on their energy bills. These systems are far more efficient than traditional HVAC systems, using only the exact amount of energy required to increase or reduce the temperature to comfortable levels. As such, no energy is wasted in by heating or cooling rooms that aren't used.

"We guarantee that you will love our system," adds Pj Disharoon. "It is whisper quiet and uses smart technology. It is remote control operated and is super easy as well. Mitsubishi is known the world over for their amazing technological advances, and we are proud to be able to introduce people to this kind of smart technology in their homes."

The Mitsubishi ductless technology is proving to be incredibly popular. The company encourages everyone to contact them as soon as possible in order to find a contractor and to get started on transforming their homes into energy efficient, comfortable smart homes.

###

For more information about Mitsubishi Now, contact the company here: Mitsubishi Now Paul Pj Disharoon 713.830.2321 pdisharoon@johnsonsupply.com 10151 Stella Link Rd Houston, Tx 77025

Mitsubishi Now

Offering ductless cooling and heating systems that are energy efficient, environmentally friendly, and completely customizable.

Website: <http://mitsnow.com/>

Email: pdisharoon@johnsonsupply.com

Phone: 713.830.2321

Powered by PressAdvantage.com