Leven Rose, a natural beauty company based in Colorado Springs, CO, announced the launch of their latest product, Kiwi Seed Oil. This oil, high in Vitamin E and antioxidants, is an excellent moisturizer for the hair, skin, and overall body. The new oil is available through <http://www.amazon.com/TRUSTED-Kiwi-Seed-Leven-Rose/dp/B01DYXKX10> or on their website at <https://www.levenrose.com/products/kiwi-seed-oil-1-oz>.

Leven Rose's Courtney Olson states: "We are committed to creating natural products that do not contain any harsh chemicals and that support the environment, all the while benefiting the health and beauty of our clients."

Leven Rose is committed to creating products that contain just a single ingredient: unrefined, cold-pressed oils. Their Kiwi Seed Oil, specifically, contains very high levels of vitamin C, which have been demonstrated to have the ability to brighten, heal, moisturize, and hydrate the skin.

Kiwi Seed Oil is also beneficial for the hair as it hydrates and fights frizz, without making it feel greasy. It is a natural conditioner and can simply be added to existing shampoos and conditioners for full protection. This oil also helps to prevent split ends, locking moisture into the hair and creating a radiant shine.

"Our new product is packed with vitamins E and C, and full of antioxidants," adds Courtney Olsen. "This helps to erase blemishes from the skin, leaving it firmer as well. The strong anti-inflammatory properties of the oil can make the skin and hair become healthier overall."

As with all Leven Rose products, the oil contains just a single, natural, cold pressed, unrefined oil, free from parabens, alcohol and nasty chemicals. It has not been tested on animals, is non-GMO and fully fragrance free. It is also kosher, vegetarian, and vegan friendly.

Those who have used the product are encouraged to share their experiences through Leven Rose's Instagram page on <https://www.instagram.com/levenrosebeauty/>.
