Hoff The Roof Contractor Launches 24/7 Storm Damage Roof Response

October 20, 2026

WEST CHESTER, PA - October 20, 2026 -
Hoff The Roof Contractor has opened an office at 629 S Chester Rd, West Chester, PA 19382, and is offering storm damage repair and emergency roof tarping for homes and businesses, with phones answered 24 hours a day at (484) 537-8129. The office is located in Westtown Township in Chester County.

Storms in southeastern Pennsylvania can lift shingles, open seams on flat roofs, and bring down limbs onto roofs at any hour. When a roof has been damaged, the first priority is keeping water out of the building, so the company provides emergency tarping to protect a damaged roof until permanent repairs can be made.

After the immediate risk is addressed, the company inspects the roof to determine the extent of the damage and whether a repair or a full replacement is the right course. Roof leak detection is available when water is getting in but the source is not obvious, which is common on flat and low-slope roofs.

The West Chester office also handles commercial roofing and flat roofing, including EPDM, TPO, and modified bitumen systems, as well as residential roof replacement, roof repair, roof inspection, and asphalt shingle roofing.

Hoff The Roof Contractor is a family-owned company and is not backed by private equity. Its lead installer is Amish, and the company uses quality materials, with the stated aim of earning referrals through quality work, finished on time, at the fairest price.

The office serves Westtown, West Chester Borough, West Goshen, East Goshen, Glen Mills, and other nearby Chester County communities. The company also operates offices in the City of Chester and in Newtown Square, both in Delaware County.

On commercial and other low-slope roofs, storm debris can block drains and scuppers, which allows water to pond on the membrane and adds weight to the roof structure. Clearing drains and checking seams and flashing after a major storm helps catch problems before water reaches the building's interior. Building owners and property managers can also schedule routine inspections of commercial roofs to track the condition of the membrane over time.

Property owners dealing with storm damage are advised to photograph the damage when it is safe to do so and to avoid climbing onto a damaged roof. A roofer can assess the roof and make it weathertight without putting the owner at risk.

More information is available on the company's website, and the West Chester office can be reached at (484) 537-8129 or admin@hofftheroofcontractor.com.
