

Evergreen Heating and Cooling Named Top Ductless Contractor Serving Norwood Massachusetts

November 10, 2026

NORWOOD, MA - November 10, 2026 -
Evergreen Heating and Cooling has been vetted and approved by the Ductless Directory and recognized as the Top Ductless Contractor in Norwood Massachusetts. The designation reflects an independent review of the company's qualifications, installation record, and workmanship in residential ductless heat pump projects across the region.

The Ductless Directory evaluates heating and cooling contractors based on experience, technical credentials, and the quality of completed installations. Evergreen Heating and Cooling earned the recognition after documenting more than 4,000 heat pump installations, a team of 26 certified heat pump installers, and four full-time service technicians. The company also holds status as a Mitsubishi Electric Diamond Contractor, has been identified as a Massachusetts Heat Pump Leader, serves as a Mass Save Partner, and maintains a five-star Google rating.

Michelle LaFrance, founder of the Ductless Directory, known within the industry as the Duchess of Ductless, said the review process focused on both volume and consistency of work. "Evergreen earned this recognition because the installation experience is backed by a trained, in-house team that completes jobs to a high and repeatable standard," LaFrance said. "When a contractor has handled thousands of heat pump installations with that level of certification, homeowners can have confidence that the system will be sized, designed, and installed correctly."

The recognition arrives as more Massachusetts homeowners consider ductless heat pumps for year-round heating and cooling, particularly in properties without existing ductwork or those relying on oil, propane, or electric-resistance heat. Industry data has indicated that a significant share of residential HVAC systems are improperly installed, which can reduce efficiency and comfort. The Ductless Directory review and accompanying video emphasize the role of proper home evaluation, equipment selection, system design, and installation in avoiding those outcomes.

Warlen De Almeida, chief executive officer of Evergreen Heating and Cooling, said the designation reinforces the company's focus on installation quality. "The efficiency and comfort benefits of a ductless heat pump depend almost entirely on how the system is designed and installed," De Almeida said. "Correct sizing, thoughtful placement of indoor units, and adherence to electrical codes are what allow a system to perform as intended over many years. This recognition reflects the work the team puts into every home."

The company's installation process begins with an assessment of the home, followed by equipment sizing and placement, code-compliant installation, and homeowner education once the system is operating. Many installations are completed within a single day.

Evergreen Heating and Cooling serves Norwood and surrounding communities, including Canton, Dedham, Foxborough, Medfield, Norfolk, Sharon, Stoughton, Walpole, and Westwood.
