GulflanderXtreme, a business in Tinbeerwah, Queensland, Australia, has announced that they have launched their state of the art range of boat loader combinations. These were created by Murray Masling, founder of GulflanderXtreme, who spent years traveling through Australia. Masling had noted that being able to travel off road in Australia is a necessity for many people, with so much of the country still being undeveloped. With his background in aeronautical constructions, he was able to create the perfect off road traveling companion.

Murray Masling himself says: "One of our boat loader combinations is the BT Combo, which combines a roof top tent with an automatic boat loader/unloader. This can be further customized to your personal needs. It is simple to use, lightweight, smart, and easy to operate. Only one person is needed to set the rooftop tent, which can be put up in just two minutes. With this, you can carry everything with you on your vehicle, including your boat and tent, wherever you go."

Through the loader of the BTCombo, it is possible to place a boat on the top of the vehicle, hanging just off the side. The rest functions as an easy to use roof rack, on which anything can be stored, or it can be turned into a tent for that on the road camping. It should be noted that the roof top tent can easily be accessed even with the boat still attached to the vehicle. The boat loader is completely designed and manufactured on the Sunshine Coast.

Masling, with his love of camping, boating, and the outback, has created a number of different carriers, all of which have had to be pulled by a vehicle, rather than being placed on the roof. The new root tent & boat loader, therefore, is completely unique. Masling has spent many years perfecting it and researching how to best create it, before finally releasing it. Equipped with a powerful motor and winch, it is designed to enable anyone to use it without any help from anyone else. This makes it easy, even for just one person, to start enjoying an outdoor adventure almost immediately.
