December 09, 2016 -
GrowUpSmart, an educational toys and games company, has announced that they have opened a UK-based webshop. Not only does this shop offer GrowUpSmart's own branded products, but also other brands within the educational toys and games category. The webshop can be accessed through https://growupsmart.co.uk.

"We have experienced significant successes on home soil and we are now ready to move further afield," says Martin Reinhold, founder of GrowUpSmart. "Our goal is to make sure that every child is able to enjoy the best educational toys and games, having fun while at the same time developing their cognitive skills and intelligence."

The webshop focuses on high quality products using natural materials, especially wood. Many of the toys are used in kindergartens, schools, with the elderly, in senior citizen homes, rehabilitative therapy, and more. GrowUpSmart webshop wants to sell toys that are fun to play with, stretch the imagination, and are educational at the same time.

GrowUpSmart is a popular company in this country and many people had been sending in requests to be able to access their products from other countries, including the UK. Now that they have opened up their webshop, it seems that they have listened to this demand. The webshop is open for business as of 8th December, thereby enabling people to shop for the holidays.
