Florida based company, Foxbrim, has added a brand new makeup remover to its lineup of natural skin and hair care products. Like many other items offered through the company shop, the 100 percent natural makeup remover & facial oil, uses high quality natural ingredients that are created for use on all skin types. By combining items such as grape seed oil, avocado oil, macadamia oil, jojoba oil, and more, the solution is able to provide moisture with none of the buildup or harshness of other facial products.

Foxbrim was founded with the goal of creating products which people could use without the fear of experiencing reactions or breakouts. By using only the most reliable, clean, and natural products, CEO Troy Johnston began developing hair and facial treatments that could battle acne and other conditions, rather than inflaming them.

The new makeup remover comes with a customer satisfaction guarantee, promising customers a full refund if the product doesn't provide the results they are looking for. Foxbrim describes the makeup remover as follows: "Remove makeup while cleansing and moisturizing your face when you put our 100% Natural Makeup Remover & Facial Oil to work for you. Remove makeup from your skin with ease. Support healing and moisturizing for your entire face. Create smooth and healthy skin."

To use the makeup remover, Foxbrim advises clients to apply the oil to a makeup pad or cotton ball, and gently swipe it over the eye area, and surrounding skin, in light downward strokes. To remove thicker makeup, or hard to remove makeup, such as mascara and foundation that sometimes settles into under eye creases, the company advises customers to hold the soaked cotton ball over the problem area for a count of three to five before swiping the product across the face to remove makeup.

An alternative use for the natural oil based product is as a skin moisturizer for mature and dry skin. To apply for this purpose, Foxbrim directs users to simply apply makeup remover to a cotton ball and dab on face and neck.
