October 26, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wildec Homes in Mandurah, Western Australia, which provides new home designs and builds those homes, has recently released a new YouTube video that showcases what they offer. Wildec Homes is a family-owned and operated business with more than 20 years of experience in providing home designs throughout Perth and Mandurah. The company states that they focus their building and designing efforts on quality customer service and innovation, which has earned them a reputation for being the premier provider of elegant homes for Australian families.

"We're proud of our heritage, and our modern designs," says Julie Rosenberg, a spokesperson for the company. "Our newest video outlines how we work and the value that we offer to new home builders in Mandurah and Perth."

Other videos are also available on the Wildec Homes YouTube channel. The company states that because they realize what a major investment a home is, their goal is to ensure that their clients are able to live in the homes of their dreams, which is a place where they will enjoy being in for many years.

"You want to come home to a place where you really want to be," says Wilde. "That's our ultimate goal. To create a home for you that you really never want to leave."

The company states that their overall goal is to create beautifully designed homes that bring their clients joy and inspiration. The company has a mission of maintaining high integrity in the eyes of their customers. Rosenberg states that when clients come to Wildecom Homes, they come to a business that offers years of premium experience and a team that will focus their attention on the details, ensuring that every aspect of the new home will meet or exceed the new homeowner's expectations. The company states that their greatest satisfaction is in seeing clients return to them, singing praises about their new home.

Those interested can take a look at some of the company's home designs via their new YouTube video, or learn more about the company's history and design options on their official website at wildecomhomes.com.au.
