

Anik Singal Recognized As One Of The Best Entrepreneurs Under 25

November 09, 2016

November 09, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Anik Singal, founder and CEO of Lurn, Inc and VSS Mind, has been named as one of the Top 3 Best U.S. Entrepreneurs under the age of 25 by BusinessWeek. The young businessman is listed two times among the fastest growing companies in America.

Singal, whose website can be seen at www.AnikSingal.com, has made quite a name for himself in the few short years he has been in the media spotlight. He is very well-known in various industries, and specializes in profit generating product launches as well as article marketing, affiliate marketing, and business management consulting.

Singal attended the University of Maryland, where his business was awarded Company of the Year from MTech. During his college years, he was also named Entrepreneur of the Year by CEOs of Hinman.

"It's all been such an honor," Singal says. "My dream is just to help people to create their own passion based business, and I've met some wonderful people while doing so."

Singal currently operates a digital publishing business that generates more than $20 million in sales annually. Between his and his client's businesses, the young entrepreneur has helped to contribute more than $100 million total in online publishing sales.

"It's all my passion," Singal states. "I want people to understand that when you work in something that you love, when you turn your passion into a business, you will be successful." Those interested in learning more about Singal's professional career via his LinkedIn page at <https://www.linkedin.com/in/aniksingal>.

Singal says that he is passionate about giving back. He has helped to build schools around the world and wants to one day provide education to those who do not currently receive it. He has been a key factor in the building of four different schools in India, and states that he would like nothing more than to make his mission a global one.

Singal teaches others how to create their own businesses, and bases the consultation services he provides on the passion of his students. He states that the best way to create wealth is to love what one does. He guides students through a detailed process that shows them how they can maximize profits and grow their revenue streams, and has to date trained more than 250,000 students from all over the world. Interested entrepreneurs can learn more at https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anik_Singal.

###

For more information about Anik Singal, contact the company here: Anik Singal
Anik Singal+1 888-477-9719
support@lurn.com

Anik Singal

Anik Singal is the founder and CEO of Lurn, Inc. and VSS Mind. He is widely considered, by the industry, as one of today's most successful digital publishing marketers.

Website: <http://aniksingal.com/>

Email: support@lurn.com

Phone: +1 888-477-9719

