

Burke Bros Moving Group Releases Essential Guide to Top Expat Jobs in Australia for 2024

July 29, 2024

Wolverhampton, England - July 29, 2024 -
Burke Bros Moving Group has just published a detailed article on the top expat jobs in Australia for 2024. This international removals team did lots of research to put together this guide, aiming to help those interested in moving to Australia by highlighting the most in-demand jobs across various sectors.

Their research shows that healthcare, IT, engineering, education, and trades and services are the main industries seeking expats in 2024. More specific jobs include general practitioners, specialists, nurses, and mental health professionals in healthcare. In IT, roles like cybersecurity experts and software developers are needed. Engineering also has various positions open. In education, there's a high demand for qualified teachers and educational administrators. The trades and services sector is looking for skilled workers in many different areas.

Gary Burke, CEO of Burke Bros Moving Group, said, "Our team has worked hard to gather all the necessary information to help prospective expats find suitable job opportunities in Australia. We aim to make the transition as smooth as possible for those looking to make this significant life change."

The report not only lists available jobs but also explains how to apply for skilled migration visas. It gives details on the Skilled Independent Visa (subclass 189), Skilled Nominated Visa (subclass 190), and Skilled Work Regional Visa (subclass 491). Each visa type has its own benefits and requirements, making them suitable for professionals with different skills and experiences.

The article also advises consulting registered migration agents due to the complex nature of migration laws. This help should boost the chances of a successful visa application.

For those considering a move, Burke Bros Moving Group offers a wide range of services tailored to international relocations. Their services include full household removals, part load, or single-item shipping to all destinations in Australia. They start with an accurate quotation, provide packing services by trained overseas packers, and offer Marine Insurance for all international removal services.

Australia is a popular destination for expats due to job opportunities, climate, and lifestyle. Understanding visa requirements, customs regulations, and quarantine procedures is vital when planning a move. Prospective expats can find all this information and more in the guide from Burke Bros Moving Group.

Gary Burke added, "We understand how challenging international moves can be, especially when it involves a complete lifestyle change. Our goal is to make this journey easier by providing all necessary resources and services."

Burke Bros also provides specialized services for pet transportation and motor vehicle shipping, recognizing that these elements are often important in an international move. They partner with Currencies Direct for money transfers and Lumon for property payment services to make the financial side of relocating to Australia easier.

Their webpage dedicated to moving to Australia offers all the details needed for a well-prepared move. The page discusses shipping options, from full-container to shared-container services, and covers customs and quarantine procedures.
