Alpharetta, Georgia based law firm, Howe & Associates, has announced the relaunch of the firm's website. Along with the new website, the firm has included an extensive video library to help provide education to clients.

"We have many videos uploaded with many more to follow," says Richard Howe, a managing partner at the firm. "Our practice is doing cutting edge work in the area of educating potential clients through professional video content."

Howe says that he, along with the rest of the firm, believe that educating clients is an important factor in their overall legal services. The video library is set up to perform on mobile devices as well, to give clients more convenience when accessing the information.

The videos cover a range of topics from when to contact an attorney to determining if and when a medical expert is necessary for a case. Howe states that the topics were chosen to give readers and potential clients vital information that will help them make informed decisions about their legal issues. The site currently has over a dozen helpful videos in the new personal injury video library.

"We wanted to provide topics that would cover the gamut of legal issues," the attorney says. "We've compiled a list of several and again, we have several more that will be added soon. If anyone has further questions, we welcome contact at all times."

Howe & Associates has been serving the Atlanta region for more than 25 years. Their staff of attorneys has more than 20 years of combined experience in a wide range of legal issues. Howe states that the firm's goal is to help their clients solve their legal issues and realize maximum financial recovery.

The firm's primary location is in Alpharetta but they have offices in other places like Atlanta and Marietta. They also want to point out that they work in various surrounding areas, meeting with clients at their locations when necessary to make their legal services more convenient. In addition to the new video library, the firm also has a blog on the site to provide further information to clients.
