Blank Kim Injury Law Expands Service Line With Slip And Fall Lawyer Representation

June 15, 2026

June 15, 2026 -

Blank Kim Injury Law announced the expansion of its personal injury practice to include dedicated slip and fall lawyer representation. The expanded service line is now available through the firm's personal injury practice and is intended to address the legal needs of individuals who have sustained injuries in fall-related incidents and may be evaluating available avenues for compensation.

Slip and fall incidents remain a significant source of injury claims throughout the United States. These accidents can occur in commercial properties, residential settings, public spaces, and workplaces when conditions such as uneven walking surfaces, inadequate maintenance, or other hazards contribute to a fall. Through the expanded service offering, Blank Kim Injury Law will provide legal representation for individuals seeking to understand potential claims arising from these incidents.

?Slip and fall cases often involve multiple factors, including questions of liability, documentation, and insurance coverage,? said Aaron Blank, attorney at Blank Kim Injury Law. ?The expansion of this practice area reflects the firm's ongoing effort to provide legal guidance to individuals evaluating their options after an injury.?

The firm stated that the new service line will focus on helping injured parties review the circumstances surrounding a fall, identify potentially relevant evidence, and assess legal remedies that may be available under applicable law. This may include reviewing incident reports, maintenance records, witness statements, medical documentation, and other materials associated with a claim.

According to publicly available injury data, falls continue to represent one of the most common causes of injury-related medical treatment. Falling accidents may result in a range of physical injuries, including fractures, traumatic brain injuries, spinal injuries, soft tissue damage, and joint injuries. Recovery periods can vary depending on the nature and severity of the injury, and some individuals may experience long-term physical limitations following a fall.

Blank Kim Injury Law noted that insurance coverage may address certain costs associated with an injury, such as medical expenses or property damage. However, legal claims may also involve additional categories of damages that are evaluated separately from insurance payments. Depending on the circumstances of a case, these damages may include lost wages, diminished earning capacity, physical pain, emotional distress, and loss of companionship.

The firm indicated that many individuals are uncertain about whether legal representation is necessary after a slip and fall incident. Questions often arise regarding liability, evidentiary requirements, filing deadlines, and communications with insurance companies. Legal counsel may assist injured individuals in understanding procedural requirements and determining whether a claim should be pursued through settlement discussions or litigation.

Settlement outcomes in slip and fall cases can vary substantially based on factors such as injury severity, medical expenses, available evidence, and the circumstances surrounding the incident. Courts and insurance carriers may consider a variety of elements when evaluating claims, including documented losses, treatment records, and the extent to which negligence may have contributed to an accident. As a result, compensation determinations are generally made on a case-by-case basis.

Blank Kim Injury Law was founded to represent individuals involved in personal injury matters and related civil claims. The firm provides legal services in matters involving motor vehicle accidents, premises liability claims, wrongful death cases, and other injury-related disputes. Through its expanded slip and fall representation service, the firm seeks to broaden the range of legal resources available to individuals confronting the consequences of serious injuries.

The firm operates from its office at 122 E Patrick St #104 and serves clients through its personal injury practice. The expansion reflects continued activity within the firm's personal injury division and responds to ongoing demand for legal guidance in premises liability matters.
