Hudson, FL based pet supply company, Bubba's Rowdy Friends, is proud to announce that their highly popular dog spray now contains the most bitter agent known to man. They have patented their formula for this reason. To celebrate the efficacy of their product, they have released it at a 50% discount. This is both a way to say thank you to existing customers and to encourage others to give their anti chew dog spray a try.

"We have created an anti chew dog spray that tastes absolutely awful but is not damaging or dangerous to pets", says Wayne Griggs from Bubba's Rowdy Friends. "In fact, because it contains tea tree oil, it is even beneficial in healing. Since it has been proven that our patented formula is actually the bitterest in the world, we thought we would celebrate by offering it for just $18.97, instead of the usual $37.97."

The company also frequently releases pet product discount coupons on their website. To access these coupons, customers simply have to register by entering their name and email. After that, they will automatically be updated on any special offers, new product developments and more. The VIP Club has been designed as a way to say thank you for the trust the customers have in the company in terms of keeping their pets well-behaved and healthy.

While marketed as a dog spray, the product can be used on any animal that has a tendency to chew. Indeed, one Amazon reviewer has used it on her cat and she has posted a cat spray deterrent video that shows just how effective the product was. "I love my cat, but he is a jerk. He is constantly chewing my shoe laces causing them to fray and break. Watch my video, and see how now I don't have to worry about it anymore!! This spray works great. It has a tea tree oil smell to it, which I love."

For Bubba's Rowdy Friends, the most important thing is that homeowners can know that their pets will not be harmed in any way by using this product.
