God's Motivations is an online religious community that aims to use modern technology, particularly the power of social media, to provide daily motivations to people based on the Gospel. In addition, they provide access to a Christian bookstore for those who wish to have books in relation to various religious teachings. They have now announced that they have recently launched their Instagram page, where people can also find inspiration and motivation.

A representative from God's Motivations says: "We aim to bring the Gospel of God to the people through all available means, including modern social media. Through our various social media pages, we not only bring you with daily motivations, we also enable you to put forward prayer requests and more. We believe in building a strong religious community that is primarily inspired by the Lord and by each other."

While only recently launched, the Instagram page has already attracted a significant following. Those who follow the page have been able to enjoy such motivations as 'Prayer is the bridge between panic and peace' and 'We aren't called to be like other Christians; we are called to be like Christ'. Each day, God's Motivations adds new images to the account to further enable people to get motivated by the Gospel.

People frequently contact God's Motivations through their different channels to request prayers and ask for help and guidance. For instance, Christopher E. says on God's Motivations' Facebook page: "I also want to stop sinning the same sin, it's like I keep thinking I can overcome it through pure willpower but I can't, and I keep hurting my relationship with God, and I don't want to be condemned and go to hell, I want to make it to heaven, I'm not perfect but I'm not worthless either, I feel that way when I make a mistake and I feel like I'm lost, like I'm running around in circles going nowhere fast."

The representative explains: "People like Christopher are in need of the Lord's guidance and we can give him that as a community, showing him the Gospel and the way forward."
