The firm understands that local businesses gain many of their customers because of the positive reviews by friends, neighbors and family members.

The company was featured in a recent news release "Austin Texas Foundation Repair Contractor G. L. Hunt Announces Expansion".

According to a representative of the organization, "We want each customer to enjoy the experience with out firm from the assessment to final cleanup and approval. The experience is due to the actions of our crew and the quality of our products and procedures. We ensure that we use the correct equipment, regardless of the size or complexity of the project. We also respect the area around the worksite, so that no plants, vehicles or individuals are damaged during the process."

He continues, "Before we begin work for any customer, a complete and accurate assessment of the structural damage is conducted by our professional team. We look for the existence of manifestations which might indicate that repairs are needed or encouraged. We present these findings to the client before any work is started so that the customer knows what must be done and how much it is likely to cost. We never suggest that work be done which is not needed."
