JackpotCandles.com, an online candle business operating from Amherst, NY, has released 100% soy wax jewelry tarts. These tarts, which are warmed by a tealight under tart warmers, are available directly from their website on http://www.jackpotcandles.com/wax-melts-tarts-with-ring-jewelry. They are designed for true connoisseurs who are looking for something different from the usual candle. As the name implies, they are made from soy wax and essential oils are added so that the tarts come in a range of different scents to entice the sense of smell.

Nicole Szymanski from JackpotCandles says, "Our tarts offer a range of benefits because they are made from 100% soy wax. This is the most superior type of wax that offers the best and cleanest burning qualities. Additionally, we use essential oils to provide the scent of the tarts themselves and we ensure each tart is hand poured right here in the USA."

One of the things that makes these particular tarts so popular is that each pack includes a piece of jewelry. This jewelry is worth anything from $15 to $5,000. Obviously, this is an interesting aspect as customers may get much more than they expect from these tarts.

The website includes a link where customers can have the jewelry item they find appraised. Customers are encouraged to show their finds on the Jackpot Candles Pinterest page or Instagram (https://instagram.com/jackpotcandles/). To date, various beautiful pieces have been shown there, which demonstrates just how much people are enjoying the tarts.

JackpotCandles is also very active on Facebook, where customers are also encouraged to share their experiences with the 100% soy wax tarts and to share pictures of their experiences and the jewelry they have found. Additionally, the Facebook page, as can be seen on https://www.facebook.com/jackpotcandles, lists any giveaways and discounts that are currently ongoing.

Nicole Szymanski adds, "We believe giving back to our customers is the right thing to do. Our past giveaways have brought so much joy to the winning customer that we have decided to make this a more regular event."

With these, JackpotCandles 100% soy wax tarts are hoped to continue to provide people with many hours of candle burning pleasure.
