January 28, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Cheyenne, Wyoming based Nutricommit is pleased to announce that they now offer a two-month subscription plan for their bestselling Nutricommit 30 Billion Probiotic. The product is available on their Amazon web store, and the company website at nutricommit.com.

According to WebMD, an online medical resource platform, probiotics are live microorganisms, such as yeasts and bacteria, that can generally help to promote a healthier digestive system. These ?good? or ?helpful? bacteria are often present in a number of fermented foods, including yogurt, soybean, cabbage, miso, pickles, and cheese. They are generally classified into two main groups, namely Lactobacilli and Bifidobacteria. Lactobacilli are the most common type of probiotics which can be found in fermented foods, and are clinically proven to address ailments like diarrhea and lactose intolerance.

?The key to a healthier digestive and immune system is boosting the population of good bacteria in your stomach, and there is no better way to do it than taking Nutricommit?s 30 Billion Probiotic,? said H. Misra from Nutricommit. ?After strenuous and extensive research, our team of nutritional experts came up with a probiotic formula that is clinically proven to powerful, safe, and effective for everyday use. Our product contains a strain of probiotics called Bacillus Subtilis, a type of spore-forming bacteria that complements other non-spore probiotic strains in the stomach that generally support the body?s immune and digestive system.

As noted on the company?s Amazon web store at https://amzn.to/2z6bU3O, Nutricommit?s 30 Billion Probiotic is specially formulated to maximize the body?s absorption of valuable nutrients, vitamins, and minerals. ?Our special formulation also ensures that the included 30 Billion live probiotics can survive the harsh stomach conditions, ensuring that good microorganisms can safely reach the upper and lower intestines. Furthermore, our probiotics remain active for long periods of time, and are able to withstand heat and other external packaging/shelf conditions, unlike other brands that constantly need to be refrigerated,? Misra said.

Those looking for a natural and alternative way of boosting their immune system may consider Nutricommit?s wide range of multivitamins and health supplements, joining many other happy customers who have been leaving positive reviews and recommendations online.

One satisfied user said in an Amazon review, ?For me, not taking probiotics isn?t an option since I am suffering from several separate digestive conditions. One is a serious infection, while the other two are conditions that can be chronic unless very carefully monitored through diet and proper supplementation. I was very pleased to try this brand of probiotic for several reasons. First, the dosage is higher than most of the other commercial brands that can be found in our local drugstores. Next, the special formulation no longer needs to be refrigerated, so I can take them with me anywhere I want, which is especially helpful when I travel. Finally, Nutricommit states that they are formulated to withstand harsh conditions so the probiotics can make it to my intestinal system without being degraded or killed. I highly recommend this product.?

?These powerful little capsules tout a super high probiotic count, far higher than most other probiotic supplements,? said Sarah B. in an Amazon review. ?30 billion is a highly concentrated probiotic potency, and I?ve found that similar formulations typically cost upwards of $60 from medical clinics. Gut health is an integral aspect of our immunity and overall wellness, and I am happy to add this product to my vitamin regimen. These capsules are fairly easy to swallow and don't leave a strange aftertaste the way I?ve know some other supplements to. I have even given them to my older kids and they are able to swallow them without any difficulty. This probiotic supplement fits the bill and I am happy to add this to our wellness regimen.?
