Water Heaters Now!, a premier water heater installer in Minnesota has announced that they are now serving the entire Minneapolis St Paul Metro region. This includes customers from Blaine, MN, to the North and various other regions. The company states that they provide water heater sales and service to anyone in the twin cities region and beyond. They currently install tankless water heaters from their storefront locations in the Nicollet Mall and Skyway.

Ray Snesrud, a spokesperson for the company says, ?We are pleased to be announcing these new service areas for our customers. We sell and install a number of gas and electric hot water heaters and can help our customers to determine what they need in terms of function and budget.?

Snesrud says that the company specializes in hot water heaters, making them the premier installer of these appliances in the Minneapolis St Paul Metro region. He states that they offer a number of models, each of which offers its own benefits, and can help their customers to choose the model that will provide them with the most benefit based on each individual situation. They offer information on all of the models that they sell and service on their website.

The company is located in Minneapolis, but Snesrud states that they assist customers all around the metro area, including those who are located in Excelsior and other regions. He states that in most cases, the company can offer same day installation of any of their tankless hot water heaters.

Tankless hot water heaters are those that fit under sinks or in other areas. They take up much less room than traditional water heaters and heat water as it is needed, as opposed to holding gallons of water in a reservoir. Snesrud states that these water heaters have gained in popularity over the years.

?Tankless water heaters are more than simply a growing trend,? Snesrud states. ?They offer benefits that many home and business owners find more appealing than traditional water heaters. Tankless hot water heaters take up much less space than a traditional water heater and help the owner to save substantially on their energy costs because they heat up water only as it is needed.?

Snesrud states that they pride themselves on being premier tankless hot water heater installers. He states that the company offers a number of types and brands of water heaters, all of which are made from quality materials and trusted manufacturers. He states that the company website offers more information on the benefits of tankless water heaters over traditional models. He says that the main benefit of these types of water heaters is that they offer customers a savings in energy of up to 40 percent based on comparisons between tankless and traditional water heaters.

Snesrud states that Water Heaters Now! provides quality installation and maintenance of water heaters of all types. He states that they are pleased to have expanded their service areas and hope that they will be able to expand to even more areas in the future.

Ray Snesrud is a master plumber who himself possesses decades of experience in the industry. He states that everyone employed by the company has their own experience and professional demeanor. Snesrud states that there are currently only a handful of companies that specialize in water heaters, and that his company is the only one in Minneapolis with this specialty. He states that home and business owners who are interested in learning more can do so on the company?s official website. Those in need of water heater installation or repairs can contact the company directly by phone or email or visit them online to schedule a service. Snesrud states that they sell and service all major brands and can offer their customers a wide variety of choices. Those interested in learning more should visit the company on their website, where testimonials from past customers can also be found.
