Palo Alto Tree Leaders Ready To Service California Foliage

February 16, 2019

February 16, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Trees are evident in almost every yard across the country. They add beauty to the environment, and can boost a property?s resale value by thousands of dollars if the tree is mature and correctly cared for. Palo Alto Tree Leaders, a Palo Alto tree service company that operates in the San Francisco Bay area, knows how important trees are to both a property owner and the property?s value.

While trees are popular and widespread, knowledge regarding the proper care of the large plants is not as common. Palo Alto Tree Leaders can assist owners with a variety of tree care services to improve the landscape of a property, as well as the overall health of the trees.

While having trees on a property is typically an advantage, trees are living things that can develop health problems. An unhealthy tree can be unsightly, but it can also impact the health of the humans that live around it. A dead or dying tree can attract animals, bugs, mold, and other unwanted vegetation that could potentially be hazardous to human health. Diseases in trees can also cause branches, or the whole tree itself, to collapse, potentially causing thousands of dollars of structural damages, auto damages, and even personal injury. For these reasons, the services that Palo Alto Tree Leaders provide are essential in maintaining healthy foliage.

Palo Alto Tree Leaders various services allow property owners to control and maintain their landscaping. Tree removal, tree trimming, stump removal and grinding, and emergency tree services are all offered by the company, as well as more customized solutions depending on the project at hand. While many property owners believe that they can save money on these services and handle the tree care themselves, any professional tree servicing company will recommend against it. Large branches, tree trunks, and tree stumps are often much heavier than they appear. Those without the correct equipment, support team, or experience can seriously injure themselves by carrying heavy loads or by being hit by falling branches.

Situations where emergency tree services are required are even more precarious without the supervision of professionals. These situations are typically characterized by high winds, unstable weather, low visibility, and the possibility of downed power lines. Visit their tree service news updates to learn more about the services that Palo Alto Tree Leaders offers.

Falling trees or branches aren?t the only hazard that property owners have to look out for when dealing with their trees. Trees that are not properly pruned or trimmed can cause hundreds of dollars in damages to structures such as power lines, and require intensive tree trimming services, or even complete removal.

Tree roots can also cause extreme damage to properties. The hidden roots can become overgrown and cause irreversible damage to the foundations of homes and other structures, as well as underground pipes. This is why the preventative tree trimming and root inspection services provided by Palo Alto Tree Services are so important.

For each of their services, Palo Alto Tree Leaders offers a free, no-obligation estimate that the customer can receive in as few as 24 hours after they contact the company. Since every tree and property is different, the free estimate is a critical step in hiring the tree service company for a project. During the estimate, Palo Alto Tree Leaders will send a professional to the property where the tree, or trees, are located and do a complete inspection of the area. Their trained employees will then examine the tree and identify which sections need to be trimmed, if any branches are unstable, or if the tree has any signs of disease or damage. The information gained from this inspection will be used to create a service plan, as well as generate a quote. The pricing is determined by the size of the tree, the services it requires, and how many laborers are needed to complete the job.

Those who wish to learn more about the services offered by the company may contact Rose Nash of Palo Alto Tree Leaders, or visit their main website.
