

Austin Eye Care Center Announces New Website

April 08, 2019

April 08, 2019 -
An Austin eye care center has announced the launch of their new website, complete with a blog for patient information. Dr. Denise Smith with the eye care center says that patients in and around Austin, Texas can now visit them online to learn more about the procedures that they offer and to read through a number of blog posts that will help them to better understand the health of their eyes.

?We are pleased to be able to provide a wealth of information for our patients,? says Dr. Smith. ?Our website offers everything that patients will need to prepare for their appointment with us, including a symptom checklist that can help them to determine if they need to be checked by an optometrist.?

Dr. Smith adds that the eye care center offers free, no obligation consultations to determine visual system concerns for adults and children and to offer advice on the next steps that need to be taken. Austin Vision Therapy Center provides a wide range of optometry services for patients of all ages. Dr. Smith states that it is imperative that consumers have an eye doctor that they trust for regular checkups and treatment.

?We are pleased to be able to offer our patients a wide range of services,? says Dr. Smith. ?We want everyone to have healthy eyes and vision and whether that means visiting us or visiting another vision center, our goal is to simply get patients to the eye doctor. We provide information on our website for our patients, as well as consumers in general, to help them to better understand the importance of good eye health and regular trips to the eye doctor.?

The vision center was founded in 2014 by Dr. Smith and offers a comprehensive list of services that go beyond traditional treatments. Dr. Smith says that the launch of their website is just another way that they are putting their patients first.

?Patients want to know what to expect when they visit us,? says Dr. Smith. ?Our website is just filled with information about patient visits, our list of services, and our blog that gives such wonderful insights on various eye conditions and how to keep one?s eyes healthy and strong.?

Dr. Smith says that the eye care center is proud of their professional and caring staff and that their entire team is dedicated to helping patients to enjoy excellent vision. The team is well known for going above and beyond to assist patients and for coming up with innovative new solutions to ensure that patients receive the utmost in quality vision care.

Dr. Smith says that those who are interested in learning more can visit them on their website at http://austinvisiontherapycenter.com/ to read through their entire list of services and procedures and to get an idea of what is expected of the patient on their initial appointment. Patient forms and information can easily be found on the website, which was designed with ease of navigation in mind.

Dr. Smith adds that the vision center?s blog offers very useful information for those who have general questions about their vision care. Those interested in scheduling an initial appointment can do so by contacting the vision center directly by phone or email or by using their online contact form. Dr. Smith urges those with questions to contact them by phone during their normal business hours to get answers to those questions.

?We are always dedicated to the very best treatment for our patients,? says Dr. Smith. ?Whether this means answering questions on the phone, providing information on the website or just talking with patients in person, our goal is for all of our patients to have the best possible vision care experience with us and enjoy the best possible vision.?

Those interested in learning more can do so by visiting the vision center on their new website. Information is available for all of their offered services, as well as payment and insurance information.
