Moving Companies Queens is Announcing a New Moving & Storage Service Location in Rego Park Queens NY

June 26, 2019

June 26, 2019 -
With moving season just around the corner, Moving Companies Queens, a leading provider of domestic and international transport services, moving and storage services in Queens NY, is urging consumers to be aware of "rogue movers" who can hold personal belongings hostage, demand ransoms and other extortion activities.

Moving Companies Queens, an award-winning moving and storage company headquartered in Queens New York, announced that beginning May 1, 2019, it will begin providing weekly trips to and from South Queens to service both residential and commercial moving customers. The Queens movers expansion complements the company's current moving and storage clientele, such as the Washington Nationals, by making the Queens movers process easier and by shortening delivery windows for customers.

Moving Companies Queens is leveraging their experience in both the nearby areas in the World Trade Center and Southern Queens area to provide exceptional service to people who are relocating or need secure storage. The moving company in Queens location will also include a warehouse expansion. The current warehouse infrastructure around West Queens is 500,000 square feet. The new location will add additional secure storage in the local south Queens area.

Mike Merlino, President, and owner of the moving and storage company in Queens spent the first 22 years of his career in New York before moving to the Queens neighborhood. Mike will continue to be a hands-on leader in the new South Queens location. According to the U.S. Census Bureau over 900 people per day move into the state of Queens and he will ensure that the new location provides the same high quality of moving and storage service that 5 Star Movers is known for.

Moving Companies Queens in Queens's expansion plan includes commercial moving and storage services for both national and international corporations. Forty percent of all U.S. exports from South America pass through the Queens, according to the state of New York. CEO and co-owner of Moving Companies Queens, says he "?will utilize (his) experience relocating Fortune 100 companies, the U.S. military and the Department of State to help organizations streamline their international moving and storage needs."

Movers in Queens has been in business for over 11 years. They are recipients of numerous awards including the CREBA award for Commercial Mover of the Year and placing in the top 10 list of best movers in the Washington Business Journal for more than ten years (currently ranked #5).
