SewVacDirect offers information about the launch of the Luova SC1610 sewing machine with its exclusive bonus bundle. The model is perfect for beginners and seasoned customers alike.

Bryan TX: Sew Vac Direct and Doug Carpenter are pleased to announce the release of their top quality sewing machine. The machine offers a number of standard features which make sewing easier and more efficient. Both crafters and those who want an all-around sewing machine for household sewing and creative efforts will find the affordable Luova model to be a functional choice. Bonus items which come with the purchase of the machine add to the usefulness.

The Luova sewing machine has many standard features include a top loading bobbin with a see-thru window. Users can drop the feed dog, in order to perform free motion quilting. There is a built-in needle threader and snap-on presser feet. For narrow size sewing projects, the model includes a convertible free arm feature. There is also a built in sewing light. Ten stitches are built into the machine and there is a 4-step buttonhole system. These and additional features ensure that maximum use of the machine will be enjoyed.

The bonus bundle available with the machine makes it even more attractive to buyers. There are three Luova blue bobbins, three pink bobbins and ten Organ size fourteen needles. The Luova 14-inch pink tote makes it possible to keep all parts together and organized. There is also a three-year extended warranty.

The 1610 weighs only twelve pounds, so even a student can easily manage to transport the model in the carrying case. Creativity is encouraged with the Luova machine. The warranty is ten years on mechanical parts and two years on electric parts. There is also a one-year warranty on labor.

The company is one of the largest sewing special distributors in America. Their experience extends back more than a quarter-century and the business is continuing to expand. Most major brands are available and there are price points to fit most any budget.
