July 25, 2019 -
MRC SEO Consulting , a Calgary Alberta based company, is a search engine optimization company that has seen much success with thinking outside the box. With a number of out the box solutions, MRC SEO Consulting has been helping local businesses get more leads through the internet and social media, using methods that many marketers have either forgotten or never considered.

With more than 89% of those searching for products and services going to the internet and social media first, MRC SEO Consulting has positioned itself to help its customers succeed. The company offers a number of marketing services, all proven to be effective in local marketing, which is where many small businesses fail with regards to reaching their target audiences.

Mike Chrest, spokesperson for MRC SEO Consulting released this comment about the company's services, "We do an in-depth analysis of each customer to understand their local business market, and then we build an internet marketing plan to help them to compete with that market. We have client testimonials that prove the service provided Web Marketingville works."

One service provided by the company, Review Branding Commercials, uses short videos that run around 60 seconds each to offer instant brand recognition and promote business credibility through the reviews posed about the videos.

The company uses professional spokesmodels, a Hollywood styled background and video production, and they edit and brand each video to market the business as a leader in their respective field.

"Video marketing is brilliant," says Mike. "Using commercials to brand your business is something that companies have been doing for decades, and it's something that has worked every single time.

"If you want more leads to your local business visit MRC SEO Consulting and grow your business without limits," says Mike. "We can show you the Best use of your local business internet marketing budget for more leads."
