Long Time Denver HVAC Provider Offers Discount Furnace Preventative Maintenance Services

October 16, 2019

Colorado, Colorado - October 16, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Pasterkamp Heating and Air Conditioning, a Denver HVAC service provider, has announced that they are offering discount furnace preventative maintenance services. They want to point out that with winter just around the corner, it is time for homeowners and property owners to ensure that their furnaces are in working order. And when needed, they also offer discount furnace repair in order for the furnace to be ready to provide the needed warmth during winter.

Jim Pasterkamp from Pasterkamp Heating and Air Conditioning says, ?Colorado weather can be a strange thing. One day it?s 80 degrees and the next day you find yourself reaching to turn the furnace on because the temperature dropped by 50 degrees. Well, my friends that time is here again. Now would be a great time to make sure your furnace is running properly by having a full furnace inspection performed.?

He continues, ?At Pasterkamp our team of furnace repair experts will come out and inspect your furnace system and make sure you are ready for the harsh winter elements. Don?t worry because we are currently offering discounts for furnace repair and maintenance services. Just give us a call today and we will schedule an appointment right away.?

Jim Pasterkamp points out that homeowners may have the mistaken idea that an HVAC contractor will always suggest a furnace replacement. But such is not always the case. Sometimes, it makes more economic sense to simply repair the furnace rather than replace it. Repair and preventative maintenance provided by the Denver furnace repair company can ensure that the home will be comfortable this winter without having to spend so much on the furnace and in the utility bills.

Meanwhile, customers who have tried the service provided by Pasterkamp Heating and Air Conditioning have mostly positive things to say about them. For instance, Jennifer R. says, ?I generally have a service call for my furnace every year with your tech Ron Gallardo. I ask for him specifically - he explains everything thoroughly, never speaks down to someone like me who doesn?t know the inner workings of her furnace. Your company stands far and above in customer service and honesty. When we need to replace the furnace or do any heating work/upgrades I won?t hesitate to use Pasterkamp, and I refer you without hesitation too! Thank you for integrity and service in a time when they seem to be disappearing.?

Pasterkamp Heating and Air Conditioning also offers new heating systems when it is really time to have the current system replaced. They are able to install quality brands, makes, and models, such as Mitsubishi, Lennox, and Rheem. It is essential to have a new heating and cooling system installed properly or else it could result into ongoing problems, substantially affecting the home?s comfort and safety, not to mention the large expenses that will be required.

Homeowners are assured that the system will be installed properly by the company?s expert HVAC technicians who are well-versed on the various kinds of heating and cooling systems and brands. They are also capable of repairing all models and makes of heating and cooling system to prolong the lifespan of the equipment.

To ensure that the hot water requirements of the home are met, they also offer boiler installation or replacement. The Pasterkamp professionals will be able to repair and maintain the home?s existing boiler. If a new boiler is required, they can offer a number of choices.

They also offer hydronics and steam service. Their technicians have experience and expertise in a number of equipment, including hydronic and steam piping, steam heating systems, steam process solutions, steam boilers, medium and high pressure steam, steam piping for breweries, steam piping for food processors, steam and hydronic piping for laundry washers and dryers, steam traps, steam valves, and steam safety.
