October 18, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Vic?s Towing announces the formal opening of their improved recovery and towing service in Aurora, Colorado. After embarking on a comprehensive revamp of their business, they are once again opening their doors to the public with state of the art equipment, better customer experience, and more affordable tow truck services to set the standards of the towing service industry in the city. Check out this link for further information.

Vic?s Towing representative, Inigo Hutton, says, ?We understand how a towing service can be a frustrating experience because it means having car troubles. This is why we are making it a pleasant experience to stranded motorists and passengers.? The company provides fast, affordable and friendly services to customers thereby eliminating the common complaints against other towing providers such as long wait times, costly prices and aloof workers. All the firm?s employees from customer agents, dispatchers, mechanics and tow technicians underwent professional training on customer service.

Hutton adds, ?We have set 5 key locations around Aurora so that our tow rescue team can respond to customer emergency in 30 minutes or less.? Customers who experience car troubles in an around Aurora,

CO such as Ken Caryl, Acequia, Saint Vrains, Morrison and Golden, among others can expect prompt rescue to their location. Interested customers can check out this link for a complete listing of their service areas and zip codes.

He adds, ?Aurora is the gateway to the Rockies that?s why our towing workers must be locals who are familiar with the mountain ranges. We don?t rely on maps or GPS for navigation. We know streets, roads, and places in the Rocky Mountains by heart.?

Aurora, CO is popular for its culinary, outdoor recreation, and relaxing atmosphere that is why many people tour the place. Car breakdowns due to battery drain, empty fuels, and flat tires are very common. Both residents and visitors can experience them. Vic?s Towing Company is operational 24-7 so that any stranded driver or traveler can call and expect help with their stalled vehicles any time of the day or night. Customers can call (303) 720-7745 to receive emergency support and assistance 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year, including holidays.

The idea of transparency in towing services is increasingly important to motorists. More than just an additional appeal to the public, the low price adds less problem to a stranded motorist who is already facing a challenging situation. Vic?s Towing prides itself on its complete transparency in price. Hutton explains, ?Our company operates on principles of transparency, trust, and fairness when it comes to pricing.?

Vic?s Towing employees value every customer?s precious time and property. Their towing team acts fast because every minute counts to a stranded motorist. They understand that their customers are going somewhere. Thus, the more time spent by towing activities, the more they are delayed to their appointments and schedules. ?We are doing our best to cut down the wait times by acting fast. We move fast but we ensure the safety of our customer?s vehicles from damages,? adds Hutton.

The company is also proud to announce the launch of its new website, which features a fresh look, simple navigation and better focus on customer needs. It offers an inventory of the company?s tow truck and roadside assistance services complete with full descriptions, and pictures. It can help potential and previous customers to find the information they need easily and quickly. Also, it provides articles that educate customers on important issues related to driving, traffic, and other subjects. Hutton says, ?Our fully responsive website is designed with accessibility in mind. We invite everyone to visit the website and leave us any comment, feedback or message.?
