February 12, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Statesville, NC based Bluebird Packaging is pleased to announce that they offer a wide variety of rigid boxes that can be further customized to each client?s specifications. Given that the manufacturing process requires these boxes to be partially handmade, they boast a human touch that adds a sense of luxury to any product they come to contain. Bluebird Packaging manufactures and supplies high quality custom printed boxes across the US, offering free shipping and free design support. They consider themselves the house of customized packaging.

A client may order a box that needs to hold any of a large assortment of items, from books to credit cards and watches. In addition to size, shape and colour, Bluebird?s boxes can be opened in multiple ways that best suit the item they are meant to hold. Similarly, a client can request specialized packaging that cushions their precious products in a specific manner, both for aesthetic as well as practical reasons. Regarding their custom rigid boxes, for instance, the company states, ?In case you are an owner of a high-end retail store, having luxurious gift boxes for various kinds of products would help your clients place a higher value on the product itself. Each box will have a critical part to play in your store?s branding and advertising.? According to the company attractive packaging may entice customers to shop at the same store more often and allow the store to sell their products for more money.

They add, ?Bluebird Packaging has a perfect assortment of gift boxes for you. Regardless of whether you need a larger order of these containers for product packaging or wish to customize a small run of boxes for a special promotion or recognition opportunity, we can have the gift boxes designed and manufactured in accordance with your prerequisites. A rigid box can suit any parameters that a client designates. For instance, Bluebird offers a Two Piece Rigid Setup Box that can be used to house expensive jewelry or other luxurious accessories. Each of these boxes is constructed from high quality materials that are guaranteed to frame their contents perfectly. The company also offers a series of Magnetic Closure Rigid Boxes that serve a similar purpose. They elaborate, ?Magnetic Closure Boxes are a standout among the ranks of the most prominent and multipurpose boxes. Universities use them for presenting award shields and certificates, automobile companies present car keys in them, banks dispatch credit cards, and they are also used as gift boxes for special occasions.

On the other end of the spectrum, clients may require a box that is far more budget friendly, especially because it is meant to contain more disposable items?or perhaps the packaging needs to serve a purely utilitarian purpose. Here too, however, Bluebird believes in maintaining a standard of high quality and durability, which is why they offer products such as the Collapsible Rigid Box.

Furthermore, Bluebird Packaging is cognizant of the fact that emerging and/or rapidly growing industries tend to demand attractive, high quality packaging for their products, partially because they need to make a good first impression with new consumers. The Cannabidiol (CBD) industry, for instance, shares these requirements, which is why Bluebird is delighted to introduce such businesses to their line of CBD packaging boxes. CBD business owners and administrators can find Cannabis Counter Display Boxes, Custom CBD Oil Boxes, Custom Hemp Oil Boxes, Wholesale Marijuana Packaging Boxes and much more in Bluebird?s catalog.

The company clarifies that each box is provided, ?with a logo imprint made in customized styles, sizes and colors. We at Bluebird Packaging offer premium quality, pixel perfect print and cutting edge custom packaging services. Get a free quote and secure your order today!? In addition to free shipping and free design support, the company notably boasts short-run manufacturing capabilities?a necessity for businesses that work on tight schedules.
