

Great Valley Propane Expands Business into Maryland

April 24, 2017

April 24, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Great Valley Propane, sister company to Haly Oil, has announced its expansion into Maryland. Great Valley Propane is currently headquartered out of Malvern, Pennsylvania and has recently expanded its home comfort and HVAC services into Bucks County PA and now certain counties in Maryland.

Baltimore County, Carroll County, Fredericks County, and Harford County are now within the service territory for families or businesses looking for propane heating and utility services. This includes propane tank installation, removal, maintenance, and replacements.

Great Valley Propane is known for their "no-fee-guarantee" as well as a "constant comfort" guarantee. The company also has plans to greatly expand their HVAC services including heating, air conditioning, and air quality.

Restaurant owners and local builders in Maryland can now take advantage of commercial services offered by the company. They also offer a number of tips for those who like to barbeque on their blog.

Great Valley Propane can be found on social media at Facebook and Twitter.
