Amanda Maree Homeware Releases Their Space Saving Velvet Hangers

June 16, 2015

June 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Amanda Maree, who is the owner of the company Amanda Maree Homeware, has announced that their line of Space Saving Velvet Hangers is now available for customers to buy on Amazon. The velvet hangers come in a set of 25, and 10 bonus cascading hooks are also included.

Amanda Maree said that once customers use their Space Saving Velvet Hangers, they will quickly realize that the quality of this product is completely different to the typical hangers found on the market. She added that their Soft Grip Hangers have been designed to be very flexible, so there is very little chance of them snapping when trying to hang a T-shirt through the neck hole.

The velvet hangers have a nonslip suede coating, which helps to keep silk garments from slipping, and the velvet flocking doesn't leave any black residue on the clothes like those found on other felt hangers. There is also a pants/trouser locking bar designed into the hangers in order to help keep closets clutter free. The dimensions of the hangers are 17.8 inches in width, 9 inches in height, and 1/5 inches wide. Amanda stated that their goal was to create a slim grip hanger that was perfect for suits and bigger, heavier garments as well. She added that even if a customer were to hang two pairs of jeans, they will still notice no sagging occurring with the hanger. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"So I thought it was time to clear out my closets and started looking for a good hanger. I found Velvet Clothes Hangers by Amanda Maree Homeware and thought I would give it a try. I received my order and not only was these hangers super, the bonus cascading hooks that were in the package were a fun surprise. This product is not only top quality but the box it came in also makes for a great Christmas gift."

The Soft Grip Hangers' non-reflective black color is smooth to the touch, which makes them look classy and provides a feeling of quality. Customers will also be receiving 10 cascading hooks, which the company says is an excellent way to save on space in tight closets. Amanda stated that they are extremely excited with their latest line of hangers, and they feel that customers will really appreciate the high quality craftsmanship that has been implemented into each one of them. She added that all customers are covered by a 30 day money-back guarantee because they believe that complete customer satisfaction is a combination of producing high-quality products and excellent customer service.
