All Star Roof Systems, a business in Spring, TX, which was founded in 1969, had quickly become one of Texas' most respected roofing companies. One of the reasons for this is that they were the first to highlight the advantages of having a metal roof. This continues to be their bestselling service, and they have announced that they have recently released a list of key pieces of research that focus on the benefits of these metal roofing systems.

Joel Chesney from All Star Roof Systems says: "Metal roofs are used on many kinds of buildings such as apartment complexes, fire stations, churches and your neighborhood three-bedroom home. Metal roofs provide beauty, energy savings, and lifetime protection for your home. We have collated the most important pieces of recent research in metal roofing to demonstrate just how beneficial is this type of roofing."

Some of the key pieces of research that are highlighted on the company's website include the UCF Cool Roofing Research, the 2016 Study - Residential Metal Roofing, the Cool Metal Roofing - Energy Efficient Choice, the Sound Emission of Metal Roofing study, the Kynar 500 Field Case Study, and the Homeowners Guide to Roofing. In addition, the company has also informed clients that their metal roofs are made from 95% recycled materials, which has a tremendous impact on sustainability and carbon footprints.

The company has been in business for over 50 years, during which time they have set themselves apart as the premier company in Texas when it comes to metal roofs. In fact, they are A+ accredited with the Better Business Bureau, with zero current complaints. This is further reflected in the many positive reviews they have received from their clients. "This is the best company in Houston for Aluminum Roofing and Standing Seal Metal Roofing," says Steve G. on the company's website. "I am very pleased with the company and their work. The staff is expert at what they do. They are helpful, friendly and thorough. They are the exclusive installer in Houston for Classic Metal Roofing Systems Aluminum Country Manor Shake which was my choice."

Those interested in metal roofing are encouraged to contact All Star Roof Systems as soon as possible.
