Richard Steiman, CPA Announces Last Minute Arizona Tax Preparation Services Available

July 06, 2020

Surprise, Arizona - July 06, 2020 -
Well-known tax preparation company, Richard Steiman, has announced that last minute Arizona CPA services are still available for small business owners who have yet to get their tax reporting in order.

The July 15th government extended tax deadline is approaching fast and many small business owners have not yet got all the required paperwork for tax filing. It is very easy for busy business owners to inadvertently let time get away from them and before they know it, it is tax time again and the books are not where they should be preparation-wise. Running a small business takes a significant amount of time and effort and the services of a qualified CPA can make life so much easier as many business owners can testify. Even though July 15th is just around the corner, Surprise based CPA, Richard Steiman, can help a business owner get his or her books in order.

Dave T., a Phoenix based small business owner said, ?Running a small business can be unbelievably time consuming and last year I ran into real problems timewise trying to sort out my taxes. I found Richard Steiman, CPA on Facebook and saw that the company specialized in last minute tax preparation, so I called them. They were incredibly helpful and thanks to Dick and Sherry?s efforts my taxes were filed on time. I have used them again this year.?

Based in Surprise, Arizona, Richard Steiman, CPA, LLC has been serving the greater Phoenix area for many years. Dick served in the US Army for two years and is a licensed CPA in both Arizona and Massachusetts. His passion is to help small businesses grow and to help any taxpayer reduce their tax liability. Sherry specializes in bookkeeping and is an expert in QuickBooks. As such, she can help a business owner manage money better and really show where it is going. She can keep the books on behalf of a business or teach a business owner the best way to do it for themselves.

Richard Steiman works with all different types of businesses. Sole proprietors with a small turnover right up to companies with sales up to $30 million. The company also consults on taxes and financial matters. Payroll tax preparation and other accounting services, including QuickBooks training and QuickBooks accounting are available for the company's smaller clients. The company also helps prepare all types of tax returns for individuals.

It is not just tax preparation services and bookkeeping or QuickBooks training that are offered, however. The company offers many other services, ranging from small business accounting and bookkeeping to Family law and divorce services, to investigative accounting.

They work with several attorneys, assisting with family law litigation and IRS issues. The company also provides estate accounting along with bookkeeping for the elderly. Richard Steinman has a motto that he likes to share with his clients and prospective clients: ?Good Service is not enough but good advice is.?

Mr. Steiman said, ?We are here to help. We know that for many people, tax time is a very stressful time, and we try to make that annual ritual as painless and smooth as possible. And if and your company faces an audit, our company?s knowledge and experience with taxes and tax law will help tremendously.?

It has been said that no matter who a person is, from the CEO of a company with assets in the millions, a sole proprietor, private individual citizen, or an elderly retiree, the single most important thing anyone can do to keep up with their finances is to hire a knowledgeable and capable staff to take care of such things. This knowledge and experience can be worth many times the cost of this staff.

Richard Steiman, CPA, covers the cities of Surprise, Sun City, Goodyear, Litchfield Park, Peoria, Glendale, and Phoenix. For those wanting more information, they can contact the company at their website or via phone at (623) 546-4894.
