June 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mike, who is the spokesperson for the company SMM GROUP, LLC, has announced that their oven mitts by Grill Heat Aid are now being sold on Amazon. Currently, customers can buy them in colors of black, blue, hot pink, mint, orange, red and full black.

Mike said that their latest line of oven mitts have been designed with high quality materials to ensure comfort, excellent handling of hot items and protection. The way in which Grill Heat Aid achieved this is by making their oven mitts thick, lightweight and flexible. The gloves are also 932 degrees Fahrenheit Extreme Heat Resistant EN407 Certified.

When people think about oven gloves, clumsiness, awkwardness and frustration are usually some of the popular feelings that start to float around in their heads. The reason for this is because the older style gloves focused more on being heat resistant and less on providing comfort and usability for the customer. The company stated that with their mitts gloves, comfort and usability were just as important as every other feature that should be implemented into this type of product. They added that when a customer uses one of these oven mitts frequently, they will find that the already nice fit gets better over time. The design of the gloves also makes it easy to handle hot cast iron skillet as well as other awkward to hold appliances. One customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"After checking out oven mitts on line, my husband and I decided on these due to the high customer rating. Received the gloves a couple of days ago and put them to use yesterday. I was skeptical and very hesitant at first. I put the gloves on and quickly touched the oven rack which was at 400 degrees. Then I touched the oven rack a little longer and felt confident that they would protect my hands. At the end of the designating cooking time I took the dutch oven from the oven. The gloves worked great. Thanks to the vender for the follow up email and tips on washing the gloves. Definitely satisfied with our purchase."

Another feature that customers will appreciate are the silicone strips that are built into the grill gloves. These strips allow the customer to get a firm grip on any object they hold while using their mitts, which is important when handling extremely hot objects. The company said that no matter how hot the object is (within reason), the Grill Heat Aid oven mitt will always make it feel like the object just came out the fridge. Another customer wrote the following review on Amazon,

"I used these for the first time the other day and they really work well. I was able to turn food on my gas grill without sacrificing my hands. Even with tongs, turning food without these was uncomfortable.... Great grill gloves!"

Mike said that all customers are protected by a 100% money back guarantee. The company said that there is also a no hassle lifetime replacement guarantee and excellent customer service. For more information on the oven mitts from Grill Heat Aid, please visit their Amazon storefront.
