June 17, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Exitarrows.com, an online company that produces mobile phone accessories, have announced that they are now offering their new iPhone 6 screen protector on Amazon. To celebrate this release, the product is available for just $7.89, instead of the usual $19.99, a discount of 61%. Supplies are limited and Exit Arrows expects to sell out at this steep of a discount for their premium tempered glass screen protector.

"Our iPhone 6 screen protector is the thickest glass protector that is available for this type of device on the market today", says Dorian Padron. "We want to make sure that people are able to get the most out of their device, particularly because it is such an expensive phone that is surprisingly easy to break. The introductory offer is for a limited time only, and while stocks last."

In order to ensure people know how to use and install the glass screen protector, the company has also created instructional videos. Additionally, the protector comes with a full 30 day money back guarantee. Hence, people should be able to try the device out without any risk to themselves and experience first hand just how beneficial it is to their phone.

While the protector has only been available on Amazon for a short period of time, it has already received a number of very positive reviews. "It is tempered glass and it is made to take the break instead of your screen", says Lxandra Schlessman. "These are an absolute money saver because you are not paying for the cost of a new screen, just the cost of a new screen protector. This screen fits the phone in a way that you can put any case on your phone and the screen is still protected. The one thing I love about this tempered glass better than others' out there is when the protective screen is cracked a bunch of glass shards do not go everywhere. (I drop my phone a lot so I know too much about the screen protectors)."

The tempered glass protector, as is made evident from the reviews on amazon.com/exitarrows, is much thicker than any other similar product available today. Because of this, it is also much tougher and won't cause the phone's own screen to break. At the same time, however, it applies to the front of the phone without leaving bubbles behind. Some people worry that this means it is so thick that it will interfere with the regular functionality of the phone. This is actually not the case. Not only does the touch screen still work exactly the same way as it would without a screen protector, it actually provides crystal clear clarity so every element of the phone is always visible.
