

Whirlwind Water Damage Restoration Expanding Service Area

October 30, 2020

October 30, 2020 -

If people are faced with water damage in their home they should contact a professional right away. The longer the water is left in the home or business, the more damage it will cause. Water also entertains the growth of mold which can spread illness as well as decompose the structure of the building. This makes it more expensive and time consuming to restore the damaged area back to new. By calling a professional as soon as the damage is noticed, they will be able to quickly handle the problem so that the damage doesn't spread.

Whirlwind Water Damage Restoration has been providing professional water damage solutions to the local residents and business owners of Colorado Springs for almost two decades now. They have a team of highly trained, professional technicians who can handle any restoration job they are faced with. The company has grown like crazy over the years by almost doubling their staff and service area size. They recently hired two new staff members in order to better protect the community from various water damage problems.

The president of the company recently said, "I am happy that we have been able to protect this community against various property damages over the years. We have been growing our service area as much as possible in order to protect as many homes and businesses as possible. We just hired on two new team members last week in order to expand our service area. This is going to allow us to act fast in order to help people with various problems on their property."

Their most popular service is their water damage restoration but they have a wide variety of other services that local residents love. They also offer storm damage cleanup and repair, fire and smoke damage restoration, mold prevention, and sewage backup repair. Their team is available 24/7 in order to help anyone in need no matter what time it is. They also regularly attend workshops and seminars in order to stay up to date on the most advanced technology and methods for restoring a damaged property back to pre-disaster conditions.

Their team is super helpful and would love to help answer and questions or concerns that people might have. If anyone needs restoration services they should contact Whirlwind Water Damage Restoration today. They can be contacted by phone or on their website at https://whirlwindwaterdamage.com.
