Seattle, Wash. ? With the holidays around the corner, gift shopping has begun in full force. As the stress of gift shopping begins to rise, Northwest Trophy and Awards, a provider of awards in Seattle, is highlighting its wide range of personalized gifts. When it comes to colleagues, employers, friends, or family members who are difficult to buy for, customized gifts can be a wonderful choice.

One of the most basic yet dignified presents is a premium tailored pen. Northwest Trophy and Awards offers several different options of metal ballpoint pens, each one consisting of a perfect area for a person's name, a business name, or an expression of choice. Costing around $30 each, the metal ballpoint pens make great presents for managers or co-workers, as they are not only special and sophisticated to the person, but also a pen is something that the recipient will probably use almost every day.

Another kind of gift made by Northwest Trophy and Awards are those made of glass, such as vases, glass decanters, glass containers, and glass bookends. Each of these glass items can be personalized by requesting a logo design, name, or basic picture printed on the item. These make extraordinary gifts for a member of the family or close friends who are difficult to buy for because the glass items are classy items that look fantastic on display around a home.

Northwest Trophy and Awards is devoted to providing high-quality products to its consumers at its multiple locations across the Seattle area. The company offers various types of awards, such as plaques, crystal awards, medals, marble awards, and more. When it comes to holidays, Northwest Trophy and Awards wishes to help alleviate as much holiday shopping tension as possible by providing a wide selection of personalized products to choose from.
