Baltimore, MD - Dr. Schreiber of Baltimore Plastic and Cosmetic Surgery Center recently posted a blog that is meant to educate his readers about the little-discussed cosmetic procedure of microneedling. He explains that this form of facial rejuvenation is not as well known as other procedures like facelifts and Botox, and as a result he hoped to educate his patients.

The post discusses the benefits of the procedure over other more common procedures. One of the key points Dr. Schreiber makes is that microneedling is less invasive and requires less downtime than other similar cosmetic treatments.

The blog posted at <http://www.baltimoreplasticsurgery.com> is Dr. Schreiber's most recent attempt at educating the public about recent advances in plastic and cosmetic surgery. He explains that while there is a lot of information on the internet concerning cosmetic procedures, not all of it is reliable and he wanted to add the point of view of a professional to help guide his patients.

Dr. Jeffrey Schreiber performs everything from breast augmentation to facial rejuvenation in Baltimore. Anyone with questions regarding cosmetic surgery, including a facelift in Baltimore, or who would like to schedule a consultation can contact Baltimore Plastic Surgery.
