Pensacola, Fla. ??Annually, the Studer Community Institute, a leading, charitable community organization, celebrates and supports their community by highlighting businesses for their contributions at EntreCon®. A?Pensacola used auto parts store, Butlers Auto Recycling, has recently been recognized for the second time for their work in the Pensacola community.

This past year, Butler?s Auto Recycling was one of the companies recognized as a ?Small Business of the Year? at the 2020 EntreCon®, hosted by the Studer Community Institute in Pensacola, Florida. This was not the company?s first time being recognized for their work, having previously won the ?Most Improved Business of The Year? award at the 2018 conference.

While the leadership conference is still relatively young, the ideals and values are easy for small business owners and entrepreneurs alike to get behind. The focus of the event is to help business owners in the community be able to access tools and relationships to grow their business and support their team. It has been attended by thousands of business owners and influencers from across the state and even nationally. EntreCon?s website describes the event as, ?an annual signature business and leadership conference that offers leaders across all industries an opportunity to grow together.?

The ?Small Business of the Year? award recognizes a business with less than 50 employees that has overcame difficulties and obstacles and continues to grow in success.

?We are just so honored to be recognized for what we?ve achieved. We feel very blessed,? says a representative of the company.
