December 18, 2017 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Great Choice Chiropractic in Chandler, Arizona, offers a number of services for treating chronic pain. The practice recently announced that they have effective alternative treatments for chronic back pain, thus avoiding surgery.

Dr. Hauser, the resident chiropractor with the practice says, "We fully understand back pain. In fact, more than 80 percent of all Americans suffer from some sort of back pain in their lifetime. Sometimes surgery is the only option in extreme cases, but we have treatments that can alleviate that pain without the invasive and painful process of surgery."

Dr. Hauser says that the practice combines different treatment techniques to provide relief from chronic back pain. Treatments may include nutritional consultation, exercise and back adjustment that help to ease pain in the back that could be caused by any number of illnesses and injuries. Treatment is available as well for the bones, joints and muscles that often experience pain when a back injury is present.

"We know that no two patients are alike," says Dr. Hauser. "This is why we discuss things with you prior to performing any treatments. We want to help you find the treatment that works specifically for your chronic back pain. What works for another patient may not work for you. Because of this, a consultation is the first step. After that, we combine treatments until we find a routine that rids you of that back pain without the need for surgery."

Dr. Hauser says that the consultation includes consideration of the patient's age, health history and lifestyle to ensure that the proper treatment options are recommended. The practice helps to educate patients on home treatments that may help to alleviate pain as well, and all of the treatments offered and recommended are designed to help patients to avoid the pain, without the cost and downtime of a back surgery.

The practice states that they are currently accepting new patients and says that those interested may want to contact them to schedule a one on one consultation with Dr. Hauser at their earliest convenience.
