February 07, 2018 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Lewis & Jurnovoy, Fort Walton Beach Chapter 13 bankruptcy lawyers, are proud to announce that they now offer a free consultation service for people who are planning to file for bankruptcy. This law firm was started in 1998 and since then, they have helped countless individuals undergoing significant financial difficulties. They encourage people to contact them as soon as possible in order to provide them with help in turning their lives around.

Steven Jurnovoy, partner at Lewis & Jurnovoy, PA, says: "Due to the financial turmoil that many individuals seem to be going through in their daily lives in trying to pay their bills each month and in trying to protect their assets, we envisioned the need to represent and inform the general public of options available to persons who are in financial distress."

The Fort Walton Beach bankruptcy attorneys have also released a wealth of information on their site to help people understand whether filing for bankruptcy may be the right course of action for them. The firm focuses on both Chapter 13 and Chapter 7 bankruptcies, which have different criteria to meet and consider. Hence, the information released on how the two differ and who are eligible, have benefited many people already.

At the same time, the firm has aimed to dispel some of the common myths surrounding bankruptcy. Steven Jurnovoy adds: "People seem to think that new bankruptcy laws have made it impossible to apply for bankruptcy. They think they are a bad person for being in this situation, and they believe that their credit will be irreparably damaged for 10 years. They also fear that the whole world will know that they filed for bankruptcy. On the other side of the spectrum, there are those who feel they can simply pick which debts they want to enter in bankruptcy. None of these things are true. We are here to provide a full explanation of what is and isn't true and to help people get their financial lives back in order."
