US Coachways, a Staten Island, NY-based bus rental services company, wants to stress the many benefits of using a charter bus rental when traveling to Atlanta, GA. Renting of a charter bus is often preferred by a group of people traveling to the city of Atlanta due to a number of reasons. During the current situation where there is a pandemic, a charter bus rental can offer the best way of traveling because they are assured that they are in full control of the vehicle, compared to the situation where they travel by public transportation, for instance, a public bus where they get to join various strangers.

A survey found that 87 percent of the people they asked felt that a bus rental is the safest way of traveling, compared to just 6 percent who are for air travel, 4 percent who are for ridesharing, and 3 percent for travel by train. The first reason for his is because they have complete control of the bus and various conditions, such as how the passengers are seated, the air conditioning, the stops they will make, and more.

With the travelers in full control, they can easily ensure that all of the health protocols are complied with. Also, in charter bus rental, the travelers know each other and they can easily agree amongst themselves on how they will be seated and they can decide where they will go and what places to visit and for how long. The passengers are also ensured that the bus is properly disinfected and cleaned.

Mark Telmany, a spokesperson for US Coachways, says, ?At US Coachways, we bring more than 30 years of experience to people looking to book a charter bus rental. Atlanta is an interesting city for people to visit. It was established in 1837 and it has a long and storied history, offering various places of interest, such as the graves of civil war soldiers to a number of key events related to the US civil rights movement. For instance, Dr. Martin Luther King was born in Atlanta and spent most of his life there. City visitors can visit the King Center and/or the birth home of this assassinated civil rights leader. Also close by is the Jimmy Carter Presidential Library and Museum and football fans will also want to visit the College Football Hall of Fame.

Atlanta is a city that can be a good location for different corporate events, including: team-building exercises, conferences, business conventions, celebrations, and corporate meetings. It is also a great place for games, concerts, and other big events; family events; school events; and church travel, such as youth group outing, community volunteering, or mission travel.

Atlanta also provides many opportunities for people to enjoy the visual and performing arts. The High Museum of Art, which opened over a century ago, has more than 15,000 works of art. There are also several small galleries throughout Atlanta, including, unique museums such as the the Margaret Mitchell Home and the World of Coca-Cola.

And since the city is the heart of the Southeastern Conference (SEC) for college football, visitors who are football fans can enjoy watching SEC championship games, which are held each year, with the winner often going to the college football playoffs. Atlanta also has its own professional football team, the Atlanta Falcons.

For those who love golf, the city of Atlanta is home to the Masters Golf Tournament. Thus, many of the city?s golf courses provide a similar feel and challenges as the Augusta National Golf Course. Many of these courses have been designed by golf legends, such as Arnold Palmer, Bobby Jones, and Robert Trent Jones.

As for shopping, Atlanta offers various popular boutiques in Buckhead, as well as Little Five Points. There are also small and large antique emporiums, eclectic shops and some of the largest malls in the US.
