The intrusiveness and scope of the water damage repair, water removal service, and water damage cleanup to be provided will depend on the level and type of water that has to be dealt with. For instance, water removal service, flood water removal service, water removal service, basement water removal, and emergency raw sewage cleanup pose different health risks. Minneapolis Water Damage Specialist can help with emergency raw sewage cleanup, water damage repair, and flood remediation in Minneapolis

Jeff Rudek, owner and founder of Minneapolis Water Damage Specialist 24/7, says, ?If you experience storm damage, water or sewage backup in your home or business and water is leaking or intruding into it, call us immediately. Water exposed to a live electrical source is dangerous. Our technicians can help. We also provide 24 hour emergency water mitigation services.?

For water damage restoration, the first thing they will do is to dry out wet and water damaged furnishings, such as the carpet, padding, etc. A water-damaged carpet may still be restored if the restoration services are done within 24 to 48 hours, and if the water is clean, which means that it came from the main water line, toilet tanks, sinks, and exterior sprinklers. They will also check if the padding, concrete, or wood subfloors underneath are wet. If wet, they will use commercial dryers and humidifiers to dry to them out. This is usually the process for the flood cleanup, basement water removal, and flood water removal services. However, if the sewage or wastewater cleanup is being done, the carpet, wood, and other furnishings are considered to be biohazards and will have to be replaced.

Next, they will take care of the water damaged drywall. The drywall absorbs water several inches above the floor level and water can also get in the baseboards, resulting in the wallpaper retaining moisture in the drywall, which can may serve as a ?food? source for mold. Oftentimes, they can simply dry out the wet drywall. However, if the moisture level behind the wet portions of the drywall is too high after 48 hours, it will likely have to be replaced. Once again, if sewage is present, the drywall may need to be replaced.

The professionals at Minneapolis Water Damage Specialist 24/7 have expertise in various areas, including: water, raw sewage removal; COVID-19 disinfection for both residential and commercial properties; mold mitigation and remediation; and water, sewage, and storm damage restoration.
