June 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Care Me, a personal care company based in Georgia, is pleased to provide a solution for those unwanted calluses through its product that is currently making waves in the online marketplace, the electric Callus Remover. The product is expected to sell out this summer season.

Care Me is a company that is dedicated to providing high quality beauty and personal care products. Composed of female entrepreneurs aged 30-50, the people behind the brand of Care Me understand the many needs of modern women, including their right to feel pampered, look good, and feel good. As the summer season approaches, Care Me provides a solution for a common problem the hot season brings: calluses.

Since summer is a season of tropical drinks, flip flop, bikinis, and warm, sunny beaches, it's almost predictable how those unwanted calluses are bound to appear. Every woman would love to feel comfortable and confident, especially when barefoot on the beach. It's important for women to always look at their best this summer?their social lives at this time are peaking. This is why Care Me's electric callus remover becomes an important tool to get rid of those calluses in an easy and safe manner to keep skin smooth and looking great at all times.

Care Me's electric callus remover is 100% more powerful than the regular battery-operated AA callus remover. Its battery is rechargeable to ensure multiple uses, and can be charged for over 1,000 times. It is built with durability in mind, as the product is made from topnotch quality mineral materials to ensure stability and longer life compared to other brands. It comes with one coarse roller for hard skin, as well as an extra coarse roller for those hard-to-remove calluses. It's easy to operate, as shown on a Youtube video. Best of all, it's waterproof, which makes it perfectly built for this summer season.

The electric callus remover from Care Me has been receiving positive feedback on Amazon. It holds a 4.8 out of 5 rating from over 600 satisfied customers. Amazon customer G. Parker provided the most insightful review of the product by stating her experience before leaving a 5-star rating. Here's an excerpt from G. Parker's solid review:

"Last month, my feet took a real beating....lots of travel, a 30-day walking challenge, and more. Not to mention winter always does a number on my skin. I took the protective cover off, turned it on, and the roller started spinning! I applied the roller to my heel and in just under three minutes, my foot was transformed. The Care Me Rechargeable Callus Remover rolled away any cracked, dry skin, and left my feet so soft."

Currently, the product is ranked 4th on Amazon's Health and Personal Care Products for Scrubs, Salts, Soaks. This ranking is about to get higher with a high demand for the product during summer.
