Baltimore, MD - In a recent blog post, Dr. Schreiber of Baltimore Plastic and Cosmetic Surgery Center offers advice to help his patients recover from breast augmentation. He says it is one of his most common procedures and all patients can benefit from some professional advice that will make their recovery process go more smoothly.

The blog offers advice on choosing the right bra, how to lay when sleeping, and more. The staff at Baltimore Plastic and Cosmetic Surgery Center emphasizes the importance of staying in contact with one's plastic surgeon and keeping up with follow-up appointments.

Dr. Schreiber uses his platform on <http://www.baltimoreplasticsurgery.com> to educate the public about recent advances in plastic and cosmetic surgery. He explains that while there is a lot of information on the internet concerning cosmetic procedures, not all of it is reliable and he wanted to add the point of view of a professional to help guide his patients.

Dr. Jeffrey Schreiber performs everything from breast augmentation to facial rejuvenation in Baltimore. Anyone with questions regarding cosmetic surgery, including a facelift in Baltimore, or who would like to schedule a consultation can contact Baltimore Plastic Surgery.
