Houston, Texas ? After noticing an increasing number of DIY tree service procedures in the city of Houston, Houston Tree Service Experts decided to invite commercial and residential property owners for a lunch even where they would learn the benefits of letting professionals handle tree care procedures. The lunch and learn event turned out to be a success, attended by not less than 100 property owners.

Speaking at the event, Houston Tree Service Experts CEO had the following to say, ?When a man decides to handle a tree service procedure alone, not only is he placing the tree at risk of damage, but he is also risking property damage that could cost him thousands to repair. Take, for example, tree pruning. Most homeowners tend to remove random branches during tree pruning ? this may create irreversible damage to the tree crown. If the branches you remove from the tree fall on utilities standing under the tree, you may suffer a lot of damages.?

Houston Tree Service Experts tree cutting professionals also noted that most tree services place the homeowner at risk too. Giving an example of tree removal, the chief of field operations noted that the homeowner may misinterpret the tree?s falling direction ? this could place him in harm's way. ?If a large tree falls on you,? said the chief of field operations, ?You may end up with significant injuries and, in worse situations, you may lose your life.?

Houston Tree Service Experts proceeded to note that it offers all types of tree maintenance procedures. The company reported that its tree trimming team Houston helps homeowners in the city ? and suburbs like League City, Richmond, Clear Lake, Friendswood, and The Woodlands ? restore aesthetic appeal on their trees, which results in improved property value.

Often called the best tree removal company Houston, Houston Tree Service Experts noted that its team helps bring down all types of trees safely, without harming the neighboring utilities. Through tree pruning, the company restores health and safety on all types of trees.

?We also offer emergency tree service Houston,? said the company?s CEO, ?This is a service that allows us to help homeowners with risky trees on their landscapes. This service is available on a 24/7 basis and we respond to all requests in under one hour.
