Deerfield Beach, Florida based pet product company, ProVetria, has announced the release of a product that they claim is the best probiotics for dogs. The company states that they have improved upon a previous product, and given it three strains that are derived from dogs. The new product can be found on their website by following this link: http://provetria.com/blog/nucleotics-probiotics-for-dogs/.

"We have increased the dog specific strains from one (Lactobacillus plantarum) to three (Lactobacillus plantarum, Lactobacillus brevis, Lactococcus lactis)," states company spokesperson Marcus Peterson. Peterson states that this formula was specifically designed with the digestive needs of dogs in mind.

He also says that this new formula is better suited for dogs than most other products on the market, and will show more improved results than the company's original probiotic formula.

"The probiotic strains in NucleOtics are isolated from dogs' GI tract, feces and bitches milk. They are hardy strains of highest quality with high viability and survival rates to ensure efficacy in the GI tract," he says.

The new formula, which can be seen on the Amazon marketplace at http://www.amazon.com/Probiotic-Formula-Nucleotides-Digestive-Support/dp/B00O28C8H4, is designed to promote digestive health in dogs. ProVetria states that the formula is specially designed to help prevent gas, diarrhea, and upset stomach, as well as other stomach issues that are often treated with probiotics.

The new formula contains 800 mgs of nucleotides, which helps increase the level of the good gut bacteria found in dogs. The company states that this specific formula has taken years of research and field trials to perfect, and that results of studies done on the product have been positive in both dogs and humans. They say that the formula is also safe to use on farm and sport animals, but that consumers should keep in mind that the probiotic strains are all dog specific. They also state that the product contains no corn, wheat or soy.

Those interested in learning more about NucleOtics or about ProVetria in general can visit the company on their official website. Updates are also provided on the company's Twitter page at https://twitter.com/provetria, where interested consumers can get information on new products that will be launched soon, as well as feedback from their current pet products.
