According to Jelimy, the founder of Gootium, he was a volunteer on a rural farm in Australia when he noticed a farmer's canvas bag. This bag had marks and lines that indicated it has been used for several years but it didn't look worn and shabby. He noted that every buckle and stitch on the bag had been crafted expertly and beautifully. Jelimy got so inspired by the craftsmanship of the canvas bag and the old fabrics it was made from that he established Gootium when he went back home. Like the canvas bag he saw in Australia, he wanted to offer canvas bags that will last a lifetime. Thus, each canvas bag is made from pure cotton canvas and subjected to a specialized garment wash treatment to provide that vintage look and retro style. Plus all of the genuine leather trims and the metal accessories are customized to provide a high quality product.

The company offers a special kind of service and warranty. When something broke or if customers lost their bag, they will be given free accessories, such as buckle, shoulder strap, and others, backed by the company's lifetime guarantee. For those who are tired of their old bag and want to try something different, a special code is always prepared for those who want to reorder from the company's website.

For shipping and delivery, all orders will be fulfilled within one to two business days. The delivery is estimated to be around three to five business days for the US, UK, European Union, Canada, Australia and New Zealand, etc. It should be noted that holidays and weekends are not counted as business days.

To ensure affordable shipping costs, Gootium has researched the cheapest shipping option for each country, without compromising the delivery time and the quality of service. For promotion, they offer free express delivery in the US, UK and Germany. For other countries, the express freight would be computed at check out based on the distance from the Gootium warehouse to the customer's specific address. The shipping costs are only indicated on the last page of the check out because they are country specific.
