July 06, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Catonsville, Maryland based company, Amazing Health Solutions, has released a new weight loss blog and it is making waves among health enthusiasts. The most recent article was published last Friday, with promises that Amazing Health Solutions will continue to publish new updates each Friday for those individuals who are looking to get healthy and lose weight.

The blog can be found at <http://www.amazinghealthsolutions.com/blog/-writing-for-weight-loss/> where readers can learn about a variety of helpful subjects. From foods that help with shedding pounds to pain free weight loss and Yoga benefits, the company has set its sights on giving the public the information they need to find weight loss solutions in their everyday life. One article describes the medicinal characteristics of everyday household herbs such as Thyme. In recent medical reports it has found that when used in a tincture, the herb can help aid in a number of health related healing tactics, including relieving teens and adults of acne.

Along with this new informative blog, the company is also promoting their weight loss concepts through videos at <https://www.youtube.com/user/AmazingHealthChannel>. One of the reasons that the company is recognized through the weight loss industry is their product Forskolin; these videos help to promote the use of the product, and also explain why Amazing Health Solutions believes that consumers should be trying it. Currently there are a number of videos which customers can watch from the convenience of their home PC or even mobile phone.

The company's headlining product, Forskolin, helps to break down stored fat while also promoting a healthy speed of metabolism. It can be purchased through the company website at <http://www.amazinghealthsolutions.com/> for $24.95, with a current promotion of 50% off of two or more bottles.

The response to the product from customers has been highly positive, with one woman suggesting that it not only helped her shed weight, but acted as an appetite suppressant, even going so far as to cause her to forget about eating lunch. While Amazing Health Solutions has made it clear that they don't encourage meal skipping, this was reportedly quite a personal feat for the customer as she usually spent her entire day planning meals. The company had the following to say: "Here at Amazing Health Solutions, we know that our daily supplement, Forskolin, can help. Forskolin can enhance fat reduction and helps promote healthy metabolism. Forskolin is also a natural appetite suppressant."

The new blog updates work hand in hand with the company's passion for helping those seeking a healthier lifestyle. Throughout the articles, readers will find not only tips and advice on weight loss and healthy living, but also more information on Forskolin and how it can help new users.
