Their new plantar wart removal system will provide relief for many in the community who are dealing with this painful conditon. Plantar warts are small bumps that appear on the soles of the feet due to an HPV infection. HPS is a contagious virus that can enter the body through a cut or scrape on the foot, causing an infection in the skin and forming warts. The condition is common among children, teenagers and elderly people. Their warts may grow inwards due to pressure from walking, and they can become very painful if the infected person stands for long periods of time. There are many treatments for plantar warts, and Greater Texas Foot & Ankle Specialist?s treatments are now among the most effective.
