July 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Haus & Garten is a leading manufacturer providing premium garden tools to professionals and home gardeners. They have been selling their state of the art titanium coated pruning shears on Amazon for the past 3 years, and have spent a lot of time on research and development on these garden shears to create something that truly blows the competition out of the water. To date, the shears have received highly positive reviews, so it seems that they have succeeded in their goals.

"Our garden shears are simply designed to be better than any other type of pruning shears out there," says Greg Schultz from Haus & Garten. "Compared to the Felco 2, for instance, our pruners are made from high grade Japanese stainless steel and which are then specially treated with our patented titanium coating. The combination of these two makes the blades more rust resistant and more longer lasting cutting edge."

The pruning shears can be used by professional and domestic gardeners alike. The blade is not just strong and durable, being coated in titanium, it is also razor sharp. This ensures cuts are very precise and absolutely effortless for green wood pruning.

Like the Felco 2 garden shears, the handles are ergonomic with non-slip, shock absorbing technology. Haus & Garten has also ensured their handles have been designed so that they are suitable for men and women alike.

The reviews to date have been overwhelmingly positive. "These pruners look almost identical to Felco pruners, and have a very similar feature set," says Gen of North East Gardening. "Though these pruning shears have a similar look, the metal of the blade is much higher quality. In addition, the sap groove on these is much larger and has an interesting texture into it. This makes for easier cuts, cleaner shears, and an overall much better pruning experience. The spring on these is also an improvement, because it doesn't slip off and get lost in the garden while pruning."

For Haus & Garten, their pruning shears represent the final evolution in garden shears and is as good as any garden shears are every going to get. Backed with a 100% satisfaction guarantee, it would be hard to imagine how any further improvements can be made.
